THE SERIES

fact vs. fiction

Whether you enjoy watching Sunday morning news shows, staying up all night to devour a good mystery, or taking in the local theatre offerings, this series has something for you. Join us and take advantage of a unique opportunity to hear from Washington insiders Juan Williams and Steve Roberts about their White House correspondent days and their journeys to becoming two of the most noted men in news. You also won't want to miss fiction writer Carolyn Parkhurst, who will share her stranger than fiction stories of encountering two Presidents while shopping for books. For the first time ever, the series will feature a playwright, Murray Horwitz—so prepare for an afternoon of enlightening discussion and entertainment.

THE SPEAKERS

10.21.10

CAROLYN PARKHURST, a novelist that writes about a novelist in The Nobodies Album, is a New York Times best selling author of two other novels and lives in Washington, DC with her family. Ms. Parkhurst will share readings and personal stories about her life as a writer.

11.18.10

JUAN WILLIAMS is a leading journalist, news analyst; critically acclaimed, best selling author; and an Emmy award-winning television documentary writer. He appears regularly on major television and radio shows, most notably NPR and Fox News Channel.

03.17.11

MURRAY HORWITZ's renaissance career spans Broadway, opera, television and film. Mr. Horwitz will bring stories from the stage as the co-author of the Tony award-winning musical Ain't Misbehavin' to his 70's television appearance on Kojak, as well as his newest musical.

04.14.11

STEVE ROBERTS is a seasoned journalist, writer and political commentator who has covered Presidential elections and historic international events during his expansive career. Mr. Roberts writes a weekly syndicated newspaper column with his wife, Cokie Roberts.
